ABOUT FUTURE OF CARE

Healthcare is entering a period of profound transformation. Artificial intelligence, demographic change, digital public infrastructure, and new models of care are reshaping how health systems are designed and delivered.

Future of Care is an independent conversation series that brings together clinicians, healthcare executives, policymakers, entrepreneurs, researchers, and global thought leaders to explore the ideas that will define the next generation of healthcare.

Each conversation is carefully prepared, professionally produced, and intended to create lasting value for healthcare professionals and institutions.
